

Shilo design

Started in the summer of 2001 and with offices in New York and San Diego, Shilo is an Emmy Award winning creative studio of designers, animators, and directors who share a common obsession to forge a new perspective in storytelling.

Shilo strives to not only push the boundaries of contemporary motion graphics and live-action direction but also strike a nerve in an ever-numbing audience. Combining live-action, design, 3D, classic typography, illustration, music and sound design.

Shilo's most visible projects include the television advertisement for Gap's 2006 jeans media campaign, the Emmy Award winning main title sequence for Showtime's Huff, several television ads for Scion, a large body of work for MTV and VH1, and AMC's 20th anniversary campaign.
