Notre Dame Fights Cancer
April 13-15, 2016
Benefitting:
Memorial Children’s Hospital
The St. Baldrick’s Foundation
Pantene Beautiful Lengths
Dear Local Business Leader,

In 2009, a small group of Notre Dame freshmen began an event to benefit pediatric cancer research on a local and national scale after a classmate lost his fight with cancer. Six years later, The Bald & The Beautiful (TBAB) has become a premier student-led event and has raised more than $265,000, with all proceeds benefitting three major organizations: Memorial Children’s Hospital, the St. Baldrick’s Foundation, and Pantene Beautiful Lengths. Although TBAB is now a student club on campus with events throughout the year, our main event is in April in the days preceding the Blue and Gold game. Students, faculty, staff, alumni, and community members get involved by shaving their heads, donating 8-inches of their hair, and purchasing colored hair extensions.

We are writing because we need your help to raise awareness and funds in the South Bend community. With your assistance, we hope to raise over $30,000 this year. Will you help us meet our goal in supporting these organizations? Enclosed with this letter is additional information on the event and how you can participate.

The Bald & The Beautiful contributes to a goal familiar to us all: finding a cure for cancer. Your support not only will have a significant impact on making this event a success, but also will be instrumental in furthering significant cancer research efforts. Please join us in our efforts – Notre Dame fights cancer!

Sincerely,

Michael Foley, Lindsey Paris, Cate Devey, Sean O’Rourke, Jane Pangburn, and Meghan Grojean

The purpose of The Bald & The Beautiful (TBAB) is to raise awareness and funds for pediatric and adolescent cancer research.

I first got involved with The Bald & The Beautiful as a freshman in Duncan Hall and have shaved my head every year since. While the donation of my hair is only a small contribution, the feeling of solidarity is overwhelming and serves as a unifying force in the fight against pediatric cancer.

“I watched my aunt suffer as she battled and eventually lost her fight with cancer. Seeing her in pain made me feel like there was nothing I could do. Then I saw a former high school classmate of mine who had participated in The Bald & The Beautiful. She showed me that I was not helpless: I could do something to support those with cancer and to help fund research to find a cure. Two years later, I had my head shaved. It was a decision that I have never questioned.
