

The Asian Indian Classical Music Society
52318 N Tally Ho Drive, South Bend, IN 46635

Indian Classical Music Concert

Rupak Kulkarni (Flute)

with Subhen Chatterjee (tabla)

April 29, 2012, Sunday, 7.00PM

Hesburgh Center for International and Peace Studies Auditorium

Pandit Rupak Kulkarni is the prime disciple of the legendary flute maestro Pandit Hariprasad Chaurasia, and a torch bearer of the Maihar Gharana, made famous around the world by Ustad Ali Akbar Khan and Pandit Ravi Shankar. After training with his father, the late Pt. Malhar Rao Kulkarni, he began his tutelage under Pandit Hariprasad Chaurasia at the age of 9. Rupak's first solo flute performance was at the age of 11. Since then he has performed in numerous prestigious music conferences and concerts in India, the US, the UK, Russia, Japan and France. His performances combine elements of the earlier dhrupad and later khayal forms, and demonstrate his unique sensitivity and creativity. His recordings have been released by major music companies including Times Music, HMV, Navras, Plus Music, Rhythm House, Ninaad, ABCL's Big B, Sense World (London), and WorldWideRecords. He performs regularly on All India Radio, World Space Radio and various TV channels such as Doordarshan, STAR TV, Zee TV, and CNN-IBN.

Tickets available at gate.

General Admission: $10, AICMS Members and ND/SMC faculty: $5, Students: FREE

For further information, contact: Amitava Dutt (2730928) or Samir Bose (2726970)