

John J. Tracy

Chief Technology Officer, The Boeing Company
Senior Vice President, Engineering, Operations & Technology, USA

Dr. John J. Tracy is Chief Technology Officer of The Boeing Company and Senior Vice President of Engineering, Operations & Technology.

Dr. Tracy reports to Boeing Chairman, President and CEO Jim McNerney and is a member of the Boeing Executive Council. He is responsible for several companywide organizations including Test & Evaluation; Information Technology; Research & Technology; Enterprise Technology Strategy; Intellectual Property Management; and Environment, Health and Safety. He also leads Boeing's Engineering, Operations and Supplier Management functions, which include more than 100,000 Boeing teammates.

He is a Member of the National Academy of Engineering and is a Fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the Royal Aeronautical Society. He is also a Fellow of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) and the Past Chair of the ASME 6,000-member Aerospace Division.

Dr. Tracy has authored more than 30 publications in the areas of composite structural mechanics, launch vehicle structures, smart structures, and aging aircraft. He currently serves on the Board of Trustees for the Illinois Institute of Technology and on the engineering advisory board for several leading universities.

Dr. Tracy joined Boeing in 1981, after serving as a high school teacher in Los Angeles. He holds a Ph.D. in engineering from the University of California at Irvine and received M.S. and B.S. degrees in physics from California State University at Los Angeles and California State University at Dominguez Hills, respectively.