The Bluebook (Nineteenth Edition) carries forward the language from the Eighteenth Edition regarding the “Year of Code” in Rule 12.3.2. The Nineteenth Edition provides for the first time a method for citing electronic media and online sources for statutory material in Rule 12.5 (pages 117-118). The Bluebook (Eighteenth Edition)’s rule 12.5 concerns “Secondary Sources.” The Tenth Edition of A Uniform System of Citation appears to be the first to provide a specific section on the date in statutory material.¹

The text of Rule 12.5 in the Nineteenth Edition is:

Electronic Media and Online Sources

(a) Commercial electronic databases. When citing a code contained in an electronic database, give parenthetically the name of the database and information regarding the currency of the database as provided by the database itself (rather than the year of the code according to rule 12.3.2). In accordance with rule 12.3.1(d), also give the name of the publisher, editor, or compiler unless the code is published, edited, compiled by, or under the supervision of, federal or state officials:

CAL. BUS. & PROF. CODE § 1670 (Deering, LEXIS through 1995 Sess.).

WASH. REV. CODE § 13.64.060 (VersusLaw through 1999 legislation).

WIS. STAT. § 19.43 (LEXIS through 1994 legislation).

WIS. STAT. § 19.43 (Loislaw through 1997-1998 Legis. Sess.).

WIS. STAT. ANN § 19.43 (West, Westlaw through 1995 Act 26).

¹A Uniform System of Citation Rule 4:5, at 33 (Tenth ed. 1959). Long called “The Bluebook,” the cover of the Eleventh Edition published in 1967 was actually white, thus, the small pamphlet was called “The White Book.” The author, who started law school in 1974 and graduated in 1978, was first introduced to citation form in the White Book. The Twelfth Edition was published in 1976. See also, Introduction, ROBERT BERRING, THE BLUEBOOK: A SIXTY-FIVE YEAR RETROSPECTIVE v n.1 (1998) (“The Uniform System of Citation is commonly known as the Bluebook, and sometimes as the White Book.”). The author’s statement in the text concerning the first appearance of a separate section on dates for statutes is based upon an analysis of the fifteen editions contained in The Bluebook: A Sixty-Five Year Retrospective. (b) Internet and online sources. When states and municipalities only publish their official statutes or ordinances online, the online source may be directly cited.

Authentic, official, or exact copies of a source available online can be cited as if they were the original print source (rule 18.2.1(a)).

Unofficial online sources are cited in accordance with rule 18.2.3.

Examples of the Use of Rule 12.5 with Citations to Westlaw

Footnote 186 - See CAL. PROB. CODE §§ 249.5-249.8 (West, Westlaw through ch. 312 of 2011 Reg. Sess. and ch. 11 of 2011-12 1st Ex. Sess.) (added by 2004 Cal. Legis. Serv. 4551-57 (West), amended by 2005 Cal. Legis. Serv. 2224-26 (West)). In addition to the probate provisions summarized below, the bill included corresponding changes to sections 10172 and 10172.5 of the California Insurance Code.

Footnote 189 - Id. § 249.5(a)(1)-(3). The original version did not require that the writing be dated, but did require that it be witnessed by at least one competent witness. 2004 Cal. Legis. Serv. 4555 (West). The California Health & Safety Code further requires that [a]ny entity that receives genetic material of a human being that may be used for conception shall provide to the person depositing his or her genetic material a form for use by the depositor that, if signed by the depositor, would satisfy the conditions set forth in § 249.5 of the Probate Code, regarding the decedent's intent for the use of that material.

CAL. HEALTH & SAFETY CODE § 1644.7 (West, Westlaw through ch. 135 of 2011 Reg. Sess. and ch. 8 of 2011-12 1st Ex. Sess.).

Footnote 190 - CAL. PROB. CODE § 249.5(b) (Westlaw). Generally, this person will be the executor, trustee, or custodian of assets subject to a beneficiary designation.
