

For this review, use an identical format to that you used for the first review. The only stipulation is that the article you choose must be over fifty years old, and it should be important. You must make an argument why this is an important article. One source for good articles in English is the Quarterly Journal of Applied Mathematics. There are others.