CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: Segregated Social Science and Its Legacy 1

Part I. Founding an Intellectual Tradition

Introduction 40

Alexander Crummell,
“The Attitude of the American Mind toward the Negro Intellect” 45

George Washington Williams,
“The Negro in Light of Philology, Ethnology, and Egyptology” 57

Anna Julia Cooper,
“The Status of Woman in America” 68

Mary Church Terrell,
“The Progress of Colored Women” 77

Carter G. Woodson,
“The Exodus during the World War” 87
Part 2. Building a True Social Science

Introduction 102

Charles H. Wesley,
“Slavery and Industrialism” 108

W. E. B. Du Bois,
“The Size, Age and Sex of the Negro Population” 131

E. Franklin Frazier,
“The Changing Status of the Negro Family” 150

Charles S. Johnson,
“The Background” (from Shadow of the Plantation) 161

Horace Mann Bond,
“Cotton Plus Steel Equals Schools, 1900–1930” 173

Allison Davis,
“Caste, Economy, and Violence” 196

Part 3. African Americans in American Cultural Production

Introduction 210

Alain Locke,
“The New Negro” 215

Zora Neale Hurston,
“Characteristics of Negro Expression” 226

Sterling A. Brown,
“The American Race Problem as Reflected in American Literature” 240

James Weldon Johnson,
“The Dilemma of the Negro Author” 261
Part 4. The Political Economy of Race

Introduction 270

Abram L. Harris,
“Economic Foundations of American Race Division” 276

E. Franklin Frazier,
“The Du Bois Program in the Present Crisis” 290

W. E. B. Du Bois,
“Social Planning for the Negro, Past and Present” 295

Ralph J. Bunche,
“A Critique of New Deal Social Planning As It Affects Negroes” 313

Emmett E. Dorsey,
“The Negro and Social Planning” 321

Part 5. The World and the Color Line Come Home

Introduction 328

Kelly Miller,
“The Negro in the New World Order” 334

Ralph J. Bunche,
“Race and Imperialism” 355

Mary McLeod Bethune,
“Certain Unalienable Rights” 374

W. E. B. Du Bois,
“Prospect of a World without Race Conflict” 383

Rayford Logan,
“Plans for World Peace” 394
Part 6. A Science of Society

Introduction 406

Kenneth B. Clark and Mamie P. Clark, “Racial Identification and Preference in Negro Children” 415

Hylan Lewis, “The Culture of Poverty Approach to Social Problems” 429

Ronald W. Walters, “Toward a Definition of Black Social Science” 437

Joyce A. Ladner, “Tomorrow’s Tomorrow: The Black Woman” 455

Mae C. King, “Oppression and Power: The Unique Status of the Black Woman in the American Political System” 466

William Julius Wilson, “Competitive Race Relations and the Proliferation of Racial Protests: 1940–1970” 482