Acknowledgments ix

One. Introduction. A View from the Battleground’s Periphery: Latinos and the 2004 Elections 1
Louis DeSipio and David L. Leal

Two. Hispanic Voting in the American States: The Case of 2004 73
Robert S. Erikson

Three. Hispanic Politics in a Battleground State: New Mexico in 2004 97
Christine Marie Sierra and F. Chris Garcia

Four. Emerging Pattern or Unique Event? The Power of the Nonracial Campaign in Colorado 131
Eric Gonzalez Juenke and Anna Christina Sampaio

Five. Battleground Voters in a Battleground State? Latinos in Arizona and the 2004 Presidential Election 159
Manuel Avalos, Lisa Magaña, and Adrian D. Pantoja

Six. A Candle in the Wind? Latinos and the 2004 Elections in Texas 171
Jessica Lavariega Monforti

© 2010 University of Notre Dame Press
Matt A. Barreto, Ricardo Ramírez, Luis R. Fraga, and Fernando Guerra

Eight. New York in 2004: Political Blues for Hispanics  221
Douglas Muzzio and Jeronimo Cortina

Nine. The Hispanic Vote in Florida  251
Dario Moreno, Maria Ilcheva, and Juan Carlos Flores

Jaime Domínguez

Eleven. El Estado del Jardín: New Jersey Latinos in the 2004 Election  293
Jason P. Casellas

Twelve. Hearing Footsteps: Latino Population Growth and Anticipated Political Effects in the “New Destination” States  313
Christina E. Bejarano and Gary M. Segura

Thirteen. Conclusion. The 2004 Election: More of the Same or a New Foundation?  333
Rodolfo O. de la Garza

Contributors  343

Index  353