Introduction 1

Appendix to the Introduction: Background Material 30
A. Three Issues Involving Creation, Cosmology, and Evolution 32
B. New Testament Issues Concerning the Bodily Resurrection 39
C. Eschatology and Cosmology 53
D. CMI: The Method of Creative Mutual Interaction with Eight Paths between Theology and Science 70
E. Guidelines for New Research in Eschatology and in Scientific Cosmology 75
F. Special Note: Wolfhart Pannenberg and the New Testament Debates 83

PART 1. SRP → TRP
Revising Pannenberg’s Trinitarian Conception of Eternity and Omnipresence and Its Role in Eschatology in Light of Mathematics, Physics, and Cosmology

CHAPTER 1
The Trinitarian Conception of Eternity and Omnipresence in the Theology of Wolfhart Pannenberg 93
A. Pannenberg’s Trinitarian Conception of Eternity in Relation to the Time of Creation 94
B. Pannenberg’s Trinitarian Conception of Omnipresence in Relation to the Space of Creation 101

C. Space, Time, Omnipresence, and Eternity: Recent Insights and Summary 106

D. The Trinity as Crucial to the Relations between Time and Eternity and between Space and Omnipresence 108

E. The Role of Infinity in Pannenberg’s Doctrine of God 110

F. Eschatology: The Causal Priority of the Future and the Proleptic Character of Eschatology 117

CHAPTER 2
Co-presence and Prolepsis in Light of Mathematics, Physics, and Cosmology

A. A Defense of Pannenberg’s Assumption of Flowing Time and Its Implicit Ontology 125

B. Co-presence: Time in Eternity 150

C. Prolepsis: Eternity in Time 179

CHAPTER 3
From Hegel to Cantor: New Insights for Pannenberg’s Discussion of the Divine Attributes

A. Cantor’s Set Theory, Transfinite Numbers, Absolute Infinity, and the Theological Reaction during Cantor’s Life 195

B. Employing Cantor’s Theory of the Transfinites and Absolute Infinity in Pannenberg’s Articulation of the Divine Attributes and Eschatology 210

CHAPTER 4
Covariant Correlation of Eternity and Omnipresence in Light of Special Relativity

A. Overview of Special Relativity 226

B. Reflections on Pannenberg’s Comments on Special and General Relativity 266

C. A Covariant Correlation of Eternity and Omnipresence in Light of Special Relativity 267

PART 2. TRP → SRP

The Theological Reconstruction of Pannenberg’s Views in Light of Mathematics, Physics, and Cosmology as Offering Suggestions for New Research Programs in the Philosophy of Time and in Physics

CHAPTER 5
A New Flowing Time Interpretation of Special Relativity Based on Pannenberg’s Eternal Co-presence and the Covariant Theological Correlation of Eternity and Omnipresence

A. Debates over the Interpretation of SR: Flowing Time or the Block Universe? 284
B. A New Flowing Time Interpretation of Special Relativity Based on Pannenberg’s Eternal Co-presence and the Covariant Theological Correlation of Eternity and Omnipresence 299

CHAPTER 6
Duration, Co-presence, and Prolepsis: Insights for New Research Directions in Physics and Cosmology

A. Introduction: Resurrection as Transformation and the Preconditions for the Possibility of Duration, Co-presence, and Prolepsis in Creation 317
B. Duration: SRP 1, the Search for Duration in Physics 321
C. Co-presence: SRP 2, the Search for Non-separability in Time 335
D. Eschatology: SRP 3, the Search for the Retroactive Causality of the Immediate Future and the Topology of Eschatological Causality in Physics and Cosmology 339
E. Time versus Eternity: A Theological Justification for the Physical Hiddenness of Eternal Time within Creaturely Time 351
