

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	i
1 Augustine's De doctrina christiana : History and Context	13
Augustine, Bishop(s) of Hippo, on Interpretation	14
De doctrina and the Leningrad Codex	16
De doctrina : Hermeneutics and Rhetoric	23
For Preachers (at Least at First)	39
2 De doctrina christiana : Eclecticism in Action	43
Summary	44
Outline of De doctrina	64
De doctrina as a Voice from Outside	68
3 Theological Hermeneutics: A priori or a posteriori ?	71
Categorizing Hermeneutical Theories:
Spatial and Temporal Models	74
Werner Jeanrond: An Example of a priori Hermeneutics	82
Augustine: An Example of a posteriori Hermeneutics	87
Melding General and Local Concerns	111

4	Community, Hermeneutics, Rhetoric	117
	The Prologue: Divine and Human in Harmony	119
	The Canon: Reorganized by the Incarnation	130
	The regula fidei and the regula dilectionis	135
	Delivering (from the Pulpit) What One Discovers in Scripture	143
	The Church, Her Ministers, and the Sermon as Paradigm	152
5	De doctrina christiana and the Theological Interpretation of Scripture	159
	The sensus communis	162
	In Dialogue: Stephen Fowl and Augustine	165
	Community and Text in the Divine Dispensation	202
	Conclusion	209
	Notes	233
	Bibliography	275
	Index of Ancient Texts	298
	Index of Names and Subjects	301